Format:RARAllowedExtensions=.rar.zipAllowedExtensions=*.exeAllowedInBinFolder=yes[This works on Win2000/XP]Check if all your files are encrypted (if they are then the password will not work)You need to be sure that you are saving the program to a temp folder until you exit (or kill it)Also, if you want to keep running the program even after closing it (i.e. to save settings) you need to specify its path to %AppData%\f-abstract-duplicator (or some other random folder)Example of creating an encrypted file using the above: c:\temp\mysecret.rar > c:\temp\mysecret.txtWhere temp is a random folder (could be your desktop, your main users folder) and mysecret.txt is a file with the word "encrypted" in itExamples of unencrypted files:
windows 2000 : C:\Documents and Settings\default\Documents\myapplication\myfile.txtwindows xp: C:\Documents and Settings\username\Application Data\myapplication\myfile.txtMac OS X :
/Users/username/Desktop/myapplication/myfile.txtNote that these don't have anything to do with password protecting individual files, they just happen to have their names as instructions for where to place your password (the password file doesn't need to be called mysecret.txt)Welcome to our free site about the popular torrent client Azureus (AuraDux), this is our live website about the application, here we will publish articles about this client.
